

"Do you love me?"

"So, what if I love you? What if I've always love you since the first time, I saw you? What if all these times I was just pretending that I wasn't in love with you? What do I do now if I love you?"

Don't you ever wonder how it could be for me to feel it? How it could be so cruel, so unfair to love someone who'll never be mine? How to feel when you see him but couldn't touch him, just admiring him by afar in the corner?

Then, that's the answer I can tell you. I don't know if I love you or not cause if by any chance it is true, that I love you, it will be the first time of my heartbreaking process, because I know that I can't have you so I decide to not know what I'm feeling inside. But if it remains that I don't love you, it'll maybe make you sad probably, but I don't really know what you feel or what you think

So, for our health and peace, please don't ask me this again if I love you or not cause now you know. Both of us could be hurt, but maybe in another life and if we're meant to be, we'll be together. But now, let's getting through this life being just friends, OK?"
